Dear Sir,

My wife and I have grave concerns about the council considering developing green belt land in North Leamington for housebuilding, particularly when there is land which has already been identified as developable in South Leamington. Political considerations should not be part of your plan to "spread the pain around" when the council has already sufficient land in South Leamington to develop.

We entreat the council to drop its idea to develop the green belt in North Leamington unless there is very strong justification through planning policy.

Yours faithfully
